 - E. Gifts
 - a. Nancy Beck Donations
 - b. Brighton Education Fund
 - Council Rock Primary School:
 - i. $1000 for Robin Ackerman and Ashlee Rhodes for the Osmo hands-on technology learning game system. This amount will cover the purchase of a basic set and they have a come-back provision to allow them to request additional funding for add on modules if the trial proves beneficial.
 - ii. $724.79 for Adele Mockevicius to add 43 Early Reader books written with an awareness of diversity and inclusion to the library.
 - French Road Elementary School
 - iii. $836.38 for Tara O’Brien to add a collection of 62 books (56 titles) to create a Counseling Corner in the library. These books would be available for circulation and address topics such as divorce, loss, anxiety, emotions, and other topics that come up in counseling sessions.
 - iv. $1,392 for Dr. Allison Rioux for positive message self-esteem posters to be installed inside bathroom stalls. Of particular importance was the detail that these posters are durable and can be thoroughly cleaned.
 - v. $315.45 for Ellen Harp for an array of materials for teaching about our solar system. The grant includes a plan to work with PE teachers to provide students with a kinesthetic experience about our solar system walking scaled distances inside and outside the school.
 - vi. $1,317 for Mary Giordano for a Lightspeed Redcat All-In-One classroom audio amplification system. (Although we have previously approved a similar system at FRES, this request cited different reasons for using this in her classroom.)
 - vii. $1,648.03 for Krystal Forsyth for Heart Rate monitors for Physical Education classes. The goal is for students to understand the importance of their target heart rate and how to sustain it.
 - Twelve Corners Middle School:
 - viii. $299 for Craig Dennison and Joe Schnabel for an iPad for use by the swim team. This will enable students to study videos of their technique and apply that information in their training.

- ix. The iPad will also be used in Craig Dennison's Spanish class for recording student video projects.

- x. $500 for Kristen Hallagan, Maria Sanchez-Martinez, and Meghan Moore for up to 45 copies of Green Card Youth Voices of Western New York, a book about immigrant experiences that includes interviews with two Brighton students. This book is one of a series, each with 10 interviews about the different communities. This grant includes an ELA/SS classroom set that will be shared between buildings as well as copies for the FRES, TCMS, and BHS libraries, and additional copies for the ENL classroom libraries at FRES, TCMS, and BHS.

Brighton High School:

- xi. $495 for Erin Dwyer, John Feltes and Kristin Haughey for a site license for the film “Suicide, The Ripple Effect” to be shown in health classes and maybe to the entire school. This is a one-time cost for unlimited used in the district.
